1. Introduction

Building tourist villages and developing tourist villages is one of the superior programs and policies launched by the President of the Republic of Indonesia Joko Widodo since 2014. This is by the commitment and mandate of the President of the Republic of Indonesia, Mr. Joko Widodo, known as nawacita, namely developing Indonesia from the outskirts by strengthening villages within the framework of the Unitary State of the Republic of Indonesia [1].

A tourist village is an area of the lowest community that has tourism potential and attraction and prioritizes local wisdom such as customs, culture and natural riches that are characterized by a rural atmosphere [2]. The potential of a tourist village can be obtained from natural potential, the environment, local culture, and support from the community and government which is used to improve the economy of the local community so that the community can independently develop their village [3].

The development of tourist villages is one element of tourism development [4]. Tourism villages have a broad impact on village development. Apart from being able to increase the village economy and community income, village tourism can also reduce poverty, urbanization, unemployment, preserve nature and the environment, love local culture and grow love for the homeland [5]. This is in line with the goals of tourism, namely increasing economic growth, improving people's welfare, eradicating poverty, overcoming unemployment, preserving nature, the environment and resources, advancing culture, raising the nation's image, fostering a sense of love for the country, strengthening national identity and unity, and strengthen the friendship between nations [6].

The development of a tourist village based on local wisdom is an effort to develop a tourist village by implementing the principles of mutual support, mutual trust and mutual cooperation between all interested parties, so that it becomes a joint movement in order to increase the income of the village community [7]. The aim of developing tourist villages is so that tourist villages can become a mainstay for achieving their goals and a stimulus for economic, social development and environmental improvement for the welfare of the community now and in the future [8]. In other words, the development of tourist villages based on local wisdom is a necessity (is a must) for every tourist village to carry out in order to increase the income of its people.

However, in reality there are still many tourist villages in the tourist village of Simanindo, Samosir that have not developed well. The development of tourist villages has not been implemented with local wisdom, so it does not have an attraction that attracts tourists to visit, so it has not had an impact on increasing the income of village communities [9] [10]. In other words, the tourist village of Simanindo, Samosir has not implemented the principles of good tourism governance based on local wisdom such as, in fact what appears to be the tourist village of Simanindo, Samosir is like "living reluctantly, dying unwillingly". This is the basis for the need to carry out community service by the USU team with the title "Implementing Good Tourism Governance Based on Local Wisdom in Increasing Community Income in the Simanindo Samosir Tourism Village, North Sumatra". Good tourism governance based on local wisdom in the development of sustainable tourist villages is the management of tourist villages carried out based on the principles of participation, accountability and evaluation based on cultural values that grow and develop in the midst of society such as mutual trust, mutual support and mutual cooperation with attention to sustainability. environment, economy and social culture of society in the future.
